

Massachusetts TB Update 2020: New Approaches to TB Contact Investigation

February 24, 2020

Scholarship Application Form

We invite individuals who are early in their TB careers to apply for a conference scholarship that will cover the registration fee. We have a strong interest in supporting a work force that is reflective of the populations and communities that are disproportionately affected by TB -including persons born outside the U.S., persons experiencing homelessness, and persons with recent exposure to TB. In addition, we invite TB survivors to apply.

The application deadline is January 16, 2020. Acceptance notifications will be by January 23, 2020.

Name Click here to enter text.

Title Click here to enter text.

Employer Click here to enter text.

Email Click here to enter text.

Have you ever attended the Massachusetts TB Update for Public Health Partners, which is held every two years? (See box below for details on recent conferences.) Yes No

November 2017: On the Move: Ensuring TB Elimination in Mobile Populations at UMass Medical School

October 2015: New Technologies in TB Prevention and Elimination at Clark University

November 2013: TB Today: Integrating Knowledge with Practice at Old Sturbridge Village

What is your role in TB?

- | | |
|--|---|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Public health nurse | <input type="checkbox"/> Epidemiologist / Data analyst |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Community health worker / Outreach educator | <input type="checkbox"/> Clinical staff (physician, mid-level, nurse) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Administrator / Program manager | <input type="checkbox"/> Survivor |

For how many years has TB been a part of your work?

- <1 year
 1-3 years
 >3 years

Please write a brief statement (less than one page double-spaced) that includes:

- Your lived experience, work history, or interest in engaging individuals and populations at risk for TB, and
- Why you are interested in attending the conference.

Send your application by email to Denise.Lancto@state.ma.us or by mail to

Denise Lancto | Division of Global Populations | 305 South Street | Jamaica Plain, MA 02130

APPLICATIONS ARE DUE JANUARY 16, 2020!