HOW TO TEACH TUBERCULIN SKIN TESTING: A TRAIN THE TRAINER WORKSHOP

FEBRUARY 20-21, 2008

8:30 AM - 4:30 PM

NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

Presented by the
New Jersey Medical School Global Tuberculosis Institute

This program is an activity of the
NORTHEASTERN REGIONAL TRAINING &
MEDICAL CONSULTATION CONSORTIUM

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This intensive two-day skills-building workshop covers the principles of adult education, teaching strategies, and planning and conducting a TST training. The course includes some lecture sessions; however, the format is highly interactive with an emphasis on role-plays, group exercises, and practice teaching of course content and TST demonstration. Participants will receive feedback from experienced trainers as they practice these skills.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Licensed healthcare professionals (i.e. physicians, nurses, and physician assistants) who are responsible for training others in tuberculin skin testing

OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this course, participants will be able to:

- Describe and apply the principles of adult learning to teaching the skill of tuberculin skin testing
- Demonstrate instructional skills during a trainer-learner simulation, i.e., presenting information in lecture format, demonstrating a technical skill, and giving feedback to the learner
- Discuss the logistics of planning a TST training
- Select and utilize appropriate training resources
- Describe how evaluations can be used for program improvement

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

Participants must be proficient in the technique of administering and reading the Mantoux tuberculin skin test and be recommended by their department head. Please attach letter of support to application.
